Program highlights and description

Innovation has become something of a buzzword these days, but it is one that represents an important concept that is constantly changing the world. Because it's, well, innovative!

Any time a person comes up with a new idea, a new product, or a new service that advances modern technology and finds new ways of doing things, they have been a part of innovation. Whether this happens at home, on a local level, corporately or on an international level, Innovation Day celebrates such accomplishments!

Companies all over the world are constantly innovating, creating new ways for people to interact with and experience the world. Innovation Day celebrates these intrepid explorers of new ideas and what their work changes about our future.

Currently, the drug discovery is facing severe innovation deficit. Number of new drugs approved has drastically reduced during last decades. Many drugs were withdrawn from market due to safety reasons.

The pharmaceutical industry is facing tremendous pressure, not only from payers but as a result of public perception, regulatory hurdles, and the intricacies of research and development (R&D).

The latter two are important because they influence the number of pharmaceuticals that can be registered with regulatory agencies, the time it takes to find and develop drugs, and the cost of drug development. Because medication research has remained stagnant in terms of creativity, there is a lot of room for new ideas. The "big pharma" model will become unsustainable if it fails to reinvent medication development.

Program Outcome

Awareness about the National Innovation day and its importance
Students got Drug discovery innovative knowledge
Newer innovative techniques in drug processing and screening
